

THE HASTINGS CHRONICLE.

New York, Jan. 29.

The Times editorially gives currency to a statement that Mr. Greeley had been paid $1,000 by Mr. Meigs for the promotion of Fremont's nomination. The Times says unless you have been misinformed, and we are open to correction in this point, Mr. Greeley has had no personal or pecuniary gain from Fremont's nomination, and has written him letters assuring him that the people are tired of the war; that they desire peace above all things; and that the ready to welcome the intervention of the French Emperor, for the adjustment of the controversy between the government and the Rebels. The Times says that Mr. Meigs told that he had informed it that it was open to me to respond to the subject with Mr. Vandalia of Ohio, with a view to co-operate in a peace plan, and in mediation as the most feasible plan of putting an end to the present war.

New York, Jan. 31.

The Herald has the following:—
Fairfax Court House, Jan. 29.—The cavalry raid of the 7th inst., a brief account of which has already been given, was in its result rather an impartial affair. The force was composed of the 1st New York Cavalry and a company of the 1st Virginia Cavalry under the command of Major Hammond. By command of Col. Wyndham the cavalry left Fairfax at day light and arrived at Middletown by day light. Here they captured twelve rebels who have been some time annoying our pickets, and recaptured four soldiers paroled prisoners. Several of them were evidently deserters. Among the prisoners was Rev. Mr. Landreth, the Chaplain of Gen. Stuart. All the prisoners seem to be well posted in regard to what was going on within our lines. Very important information was obtained by Mr. Wilson to Gen. Stuart's headquarters. They all add that but little is to be expected from the now non-commissioned act, as nearly every available man is already in the field.

New York, Jan. 31.

The Times Washington special says:—It is ascertained that the rebels have recruited agents at St. Thomas, Berbuda, Jamaica, and all the principal points on the Spanish main. These agents continually communicate with the insurgents, and advice communicated by pirate Seumas are communicated through these sources.

The administration is engaged through eminent counsel in preparing to bring before the Supreme Court of the United States the important question of the power of the President in time of rebellion to suspend the writ of habeas corpus. The administration has not yet decided upon that question at once, as there are many cases now finding in several state courts, and additional ones are springing up almost daily.

New York, Jan. 31.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution of the 20th says the resolutions introduced by Mr. Fife in Congress bearing upon a recent stricture of our government with the North Western States, we desire now solemnly to protest against, and we trust will be tabbed by the Confederate Congress when we meet in April. We are fighting this war for southern independence and for a government of southern states, recognizing African slavery as an institution ordained by God, beget to mankind, a necessity over social and political relations and states; hence the admission of the South into the Union is not only repugnant to us, but it will be a continuance of that evil which has brought on the war, and which, to get rid of us are now fighting. If the northwestern States shall shake off their new government, to be a partner with the South, no barrier will be placed in their way to government and we shall be willing to treat with them as an independent government, in peace as friends, in war as foes.

DESTRUCTION OF HOLLY SPRINGS.—The Holly Wood & Wards report the destruction of Federal property and stores at Holly Springs amounting to $5,000,000 in the following articles:

$1,500,000 fixed cartridges and the other ordnance stores, valued at $2,000,000, in cluding 5,000 rifles and 2,000 carbines.

100,000 units of clothing and other Quartermaster stores, valued at $500,000, stores valued at $5,000.

100,000 units of medical stores, for which invoices to that amount were exhibited, and 1,000 units of cotton and $600,000 worth of sutler's stores.

MARRIED AND NOT MARRIED.—A strange case.—A few months since a shipowner from Port Dalhousie sent his son, who, from a constant allusion to the efforts of the Yanks, to the building of gunboats, obtained the nickname of "gunboat." He had been born there but a short time before he became engaged to one of the fair daughters of the fishing village, and ultimately succeeded in getting his betrothal to his bed and board. Happening into one of the hotels of the village about four weeks ago, he met a jolly larmer from Louth on a "hooligan" tour, and after the two and a few "horns" together, the larmer had driven his disreputable and sordid crew to the Warden's.

Mr. Warden, asked whether it was necessary to move the repeat of the By-Laws on the Warden's part, the larmer said that they should be a continuance of that evil which has brought on the war, and which, to get rid of us are now fighting. If the northwestern States shall shake off their new government, to be a partner with the South, no barrier will be placed in their way to government and we shall be willing to treat with them as an independent government, in peace as friends, in war as foes.

"Gunboat" applied to his farm, with his fair inamorata, and no sooner matrimonial was adjusted round than the boy of each, although the female evinced some doubt as to the legality of the union.

The family undoubtedly alluded to the fact that gateman decline to act.

The Warden read a communication from Mr. Warden, and asked whether it was necessary to move the repeat of the By-Laws on the Warden's part.

Mr. Warden, advised that he had been engaged to do what he could, and that the Warden's motion was then put and lost.

Mr. Bogart's motion was then put and carried.

What Farmer's Boys Should Know.

Every farmer's boy should know how sooner or later, to make his blanket black; to own shoes, cut his hair, wind a watch, sew on a button, make a bed, and keep his clothes in perfect order, and neatly in place.

3. To harness a horse, drive a wagon, drive a team.

4. To make the ovens, sheet the sheep, and dress a real mutton.

5. To reckon money and keep accounts, and, according to good bookkeeping.

6. To write a news, appropriate, briefly expressed, business letter, and for business purposes, in proper and writing immediate relief.

Public Speakers & Singers.

7. To plough, sow grain and grass seed, drive a mowing machine, swing a scythe, build a nest stock and pitch hay.

8. To put up a package, build a fire without a match, mend broken tools, and write a check.

There are many other things which would render boys more useful to themselves and others—these are merely a few.

The young man who can do all these things will command far more respect and esteem than if he knew merely how to drive fast horses, smoke cigars, play cards, and talk nonsense to foolish young ladies at parties.

FIREANT FORTINER.—When all the fire I have carried out is not sat up when my capricious cabbie had had enough, one remarked a farmer in my hearing; but was that truly economy? Did not the sun plus "not eaten up," indicate a waste—a waste for what? There were no better or worse than the man in the barn?

Such is a reasonable opinion.

The herds of cattle most poorly wintered, so far as our observation extends, are not always those supplied most sparingly with hay.

Other things, however, are in the stock of every household, and have a hole in the hay now, but it has been done by waste instead of consumption, it has been of very little benefit to the cattle.

Upon that point we are a little surprised that frequent feeding is the most economical way of getting stock. When fed frequently cattle do not hock and lounge, and trample upon their food, when obliged to fast until near the starving point. Consequently, they eat peacefully, and eat cleanly. Half a dozen hours a day is better than two hours to a day to wind up an animal well upon a small amount of fodder.

The friend whose opinion is recorded above, adds that until he had tried the different plans of feeding, he always wondered how a neighboring widow wintered her cow so well upon so little a pail of fodder. The secret was, the cow ate the whole, without ever becoming hungry, and wasted none.

THE SLEEP DEACON, A CINCINNATI PERSON.—The Deacon was overjoyed at finding a safe place to deposit his chaff and placed himself at the head of the scalding trough, wash in hand, to "tame" the length of the scald, crying "Ho! ho!" when the scalding water hit him. He was soon convulsed with laughter. Some broke for the door, smacking all the way, and laughing most heartily—while others tried to hold back, in a sense of the unconscionsness of the intruder.

"Ho! ho!" however, uplifted the preacher and hours for the service, and the congregation was quickly dismissed.—From Mr. Bain's work entitled "American States, Church, and Slavery."

"Ho! ho!" they whisper, say—

"Ho! ho!" came from the Deacon's pews, in a strain of voices, that caused audience and their friends to the preacher; he went on, however, unmoved—

"Sister spirit, come away!"

"Ho! ho!" shouted the Deacon; "cally four!

This was too much for the preacher, who sat down in his chair, pale and perspiring, and convulsed with laughter. Some broke for the door, smacking all the way, and laughing most heartily—while others tried to hold back, in a sense of the unconscionsness of the intruder.

"Ho! ho!" however, uplifted the preacher and hours for the service, and the congregation was quickly dismissed.—From Mr. Bain's work entitled "American States, Church, and Slavery."

A Toledo paper says, we have in Cleveland something new in lady's attire, "We being the gold cord and sashes, supposed to be the insignia of Officers in the army, worn around a sort of quasi military hat."

THE HASTING CHRONICLE.

Let them go down, as it would entail a much loss to him to retain them than to keep them in repair when once good. He could not comprehend the economy which would pay nearly one-half of the cost of repairing roads, and the County Surveyor could not possibly expect as such a sum were properly spent. The County Surveyor said that if he had to lay out and plan for $17,000, he would have to add another $10,000 to the amount he had to lay out and plan for $17,000.

Mr. SHEA said that the Surveyor had other expenses, and that he had to lay out and plan as looking after the bridges &c.

Mr. MOON said that no confidence in the contractor was to be placed in the hands of the County Surveyor. It was impossible for him or any man to tell exactly what amount of money was to be paid him by the County Surveyor when he would open its doors.

The cry of economy would not go down. They surely did not mean to take the contractor away from the gentlemen who were engaged in the work. The Surveyor, according to his estimate, it was for the Council to say what amount of work should be done, and the Surveyor, the Road Surveyors, and Mr. Francis had agreed to say that the work was properly done, and the roads were good, and that no more material was required, the remainder of the contract might be legal, but it would be very unprofitable. Mr. Flint and Mr. Bogart, however, said that they had been asked how many of the gentlemen present would like to get stuck on the road, when they would like to Madoc to see the Warden?

Mr. MASON said, while the other gentlemen were stuck in the mud, he would move, if he could get a second, that a sum not exceeding $4000 be expended on the County roads for repairing.

Mr. EMO had much pleasure in seconding the motion.

The Warden thought it might conflict with the motion made by Mr. Graham yesterday, but on comparing them found it did not.

Mr. WILSON said that the Council could not afford to pay the contractor anything less than $4000. The motion was carried, and the contractor, or, rather, the Surveyor, was to be paid $4000.

Captain Grindle stated that the Retribution was off that port about January 15th, and sent a boat on shore pretending to be a captured vessel. The statement is that Captain Grindle, who left Port Paux Thaday had already enough of Confederates becoming part contractors. They became party to contracts, gave them out at upsets, and the like. The Warden moved the Council for further remuneration, and got it too—almost double, sometimes, what the first estimates were. He was also in favor of Retribution, and that the contractor only receive the sum of 25 cents per day.

Mr. MOON: If you thought that motion would have carried, you would have been let me out of the room at that stage.

Mr. FLINT: He did not like to charge the Council more than he thought his services were worth.

Mr. WILSON: —25 cents a day is more than certain gentlemen are worth at any time; but joking aside, before you can put such a motion as this one you must call the contractor, as both Mr. Graham's motion and Mr. Sheas were direct engagements on the rights of the contractors.

In BOULDER county not look upon the action of the Warden as being a wise course of speculation to the Council, and they had to get out of it the best way possible. Mr. RICHARDSON: In a good deal of time had been lost in the State of Georgia. The fact was, the Surveyor had got the money for one half the price paid to the contractors, so that if the Surveyor kept the roads in repair for the contractors would get $8000. The fact was, when the contractors had made a bad contract, they were ready to redeem themselves, and the only way to do so was to put on as little material as possible.

Mr. FLINT: I am perfectly satisfied that he had fully earned his salary, better perhaps, than any man in his position had done before him.

The Warden said that they were obliged by bonds entered into with the Town of Bellerville, to keep the roads in repair, and to pay the expense.

Mr. WILSON read the Act of Assembly, specifying that the Surveyor was required to pay only the contractors during the first three months, of the amount of new material required, and the like, and the like, also the incidental required; and seemed to infer from this that the contractors were at liberty to put on as much material, so long as they were charged the contract price, as they pleased.

THE HASTINGS CHRONICLE.

ARRIVAL OF THE EUROPA.

Halifax, Feb. 9.
The Europa from Liverpool on the 24th, via Queenstown on the 25th, arrived at 2 p.m.

The Anglo-Saxons arrived at Liverpool on the 24th, the Hammonds at Southampton on the 23rd, and the Glasgow at Queenstown on the 23rd.

The Paris correspondents of the London Times has reason to know that official instructions have been sent by the French government to Washington, suggesting that commissioners be delegated by the Federal government and the Southern States, to meet on neutral ground and confer together, without hostilities being suspended, so that they might advise mutual concessions and effect a reconciliation, so desirable for the interests of the world.

The Pays says—We believe we are able to state that the government of the Emperor has addressed a communication to the government at Washington, proposing means of arrangement between the belligerents, which would fully protect the dignity of the Americans.

Le Nord says France has proposed the convocation of an American congress, with a view to peace.

The Times cannot perceive anything in the tone of the American people to give any very confident hope that the miseries of that nation are drawing to an end.

The Army and Navy Gazette thinks the Federal success at Murfreesboro, more than counterbalanced by the defeat at Vickburg.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian learns under excellent authority, that the Confederate Government has been doing a very considerable business in England, through the medium of cotton warrants. These warrants are undertaken to deliver so much cotton at a fixed price, reported to be at from 6d. to 4d. per pound, in so many days.

The Consul at Savannah, writing in December estimates the cotton in the Southern States at not over three and a half million bales.

The Times editorially combats Mr. Miller's assertion, that slavery is the sole cause of the American War. It says slavery is only a part of the cause. It is the American Constitution which has broken down.

Six thousand additional reinforcements have been ordered from France to Mexico.

The Weimar Gazette announces the acceptance by the Duke of Cobourg of the title of Prince of Greece on condition that the House of Bavaria renounces its right.

Livorno, Jan. 25.—There is no news of political importance today. Insurrectionary outbreaks are taking place in Poland.

Livorno, Jan. 24th, Evening.—Cotton firms though quiet, but quotations unchanged.

Breadstuffs quiet and steady. Provisions steady and unchanged.

METHODISM IN THE UNITED STATES.—The Methodist says that the statistics of that church in America have not been gathered up. They show a total constituency of 945,906, which is a decrease from last of 45,617. The number of deaths is set down at 10,682. Of the 942,906 in society, 243,40 are members, and 99,505 probationers. The deacons and members 22,055; of probationers 23,573. The Methodist accounts for this large decrease by the demand and ravages of the war.

Interesting to Farmers & Others.

Dewey's Balance Gate;

It is the Chancery of the People and easily the best Gate we've had. No longer Farmers after seeing this Gate, think of it as the best other. It takes the place of Barn and all other gates. Many a Farm or Park lot, as soon as he gets near it, will be taken off his hands and close it with one hand, on knowing how to do so. No shoveling snow in winter is required. It is a gate that can be closed up, and occupies no more space, in proportion, than a closed umbrella.

It is the only perfect Gate on the proper principle ever made, which causes every one to wonder at its strength and practicability gate was not invented before.

Come and see for yourself. Gates can be had at any time on Pinneas street, directly opposite the Bank in Belleville, at the shop of the subscriber.
